Being a soldier is a way of life, from the first days of training until long after active service ends. Duty, honor, country... they're not just words to the men and women of our military. They give so much and ask so little to protect the freedoms we enjoy, some paying the ultimate price. On this Veteran's Day we honor our veterans and thank them for their sacrifice for answering the call of duty, serving with honor and protecting home and family.